USING ADOBE CONTRIBUTE TO MANAGE YOUR SITE CONTENT

You want to have access to your web content. You want the ability to change text and pictures easily without having to own expensive web editing programs or have knowledge of HTML coding.

In the past, to have that kind of control over your site, you would have been restricted to a Content Management type website, which limits the design and flow of the site. Now, there is Adobe Contribute.

How It Works

Contribute works by connecting real-time to the actual live website. To you, it will look and feel like you are browsing through your site on a typical web browser like Internet Explorer or Firefox. The only difference is you have the opportunity to Edit and Publish your page changes at any time while you are browsing through.

Web professionals use an FTP client to upload your site files to your hosting server. Contribute incorporates the FTP client, without all the complicated upload/download and protocol information.

Setting It Up

It's incredibly easy to set up Adobe Contribute. Simply use the Connection Wizard to enter your connection information: FTP login and password. If other people will be editing your site as well, you can set up parameters as to what they can and cannot edit.

Using Contribute to Edit Your Site

You will edit your pages in Contribute much like you would edit pages in a word processing program. Browse through your site, when you see a page that needs changing, click Edit Page, when you finish your changes, click Publish and your changes will appear on your site.

Adobe Contribute puts you in control of your web content. The software costs under $200. For more product info or to buy, visit Adobe online at: www.adobe.com/products/contribute
